Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

SEEN AND HEARD — FRONT
The way some people complain about the heat you would think something could be done about it.

Clyde Steele says he is doing his best to keep the grass on the courthouse lawn green. Takes water.

He is also watching the Golden Chain tree closely, on the southeast corner of the square to make sure it gets plenty of water.

That's not all dirt under the courthouse lawn. There are rocks, pieces of concrete, etc., and a spring or two.

Rob Hule hit a pretty good stream of water in the big hole he is digging for the new water reservoir on Elm Street.

That's really a hole he has there.

When completed the reservoir will hold a million gallons of water.

It won't stick up in the air like the regular water tanks.

They call them clear wells for some reason or other.

Looks as though the new hangar will go up at Kyle Field now. The Fiscal Court has passed the same type of resolution passed by the city. W. L. Lyons of Louisville will handle the $25,000 bond issue.

The bonds will be paid off by rental from the hangar.

Local banks will buy the bonds, so it will be just a domestic deal.

Lyons has to handle it to make everything legal.

City Council passed the tax levy Thursday night. It will be the same as last year.

Council is seriously considering the purchase of a radar unit to halt speeding in the city.

This friendly little gadget costs about $1400 and all you do is point it towards the car you want to check and the speed of that car is recorded on a large dial.

Here is the way it works. The police car parks on the side of the street and checks traffic going their way. They can pull right out and stop him. It is not used too much to check traffic coming from the other direction because the police would have to turn around before they could ever take off after the offender.

Continuing complaints about speeding in different sections of Murray will bring about purchase of the unit. With two police cars the city police simply cannot be everywhere at once.

If we were a sheriff and we needed a deputy, we would hire a fellow about the size of Joe Green.

Usher: "How far down do you want to sit?"
Lady: "All the way down. I'm very tired."

Our birth is nothing but our death begun, as tapers waste the moment they take fire... Young.

No man minds practicing economy unless it causes him to scrimp on his pet vices.

Too many men practice economy by practicing it to their wives.

Goldwater Is Expected To Pick Up Votes

WASHINGTON, June 12 — Sen. Barry Goldwater's GOP presidential bandwagon was expected to pick up a flock of convention delegates today despite Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's last-ditch efforts to derail it.

The battle grounds were state Republican conventions in Connecticut, where Scranton was to make a personal bid for support, Virginia, New Mexico and Idaho.

The latest United Press International tabulation of delegate strength gave Goldwater 553 pledged delegates with 55 needed for nomination at next month's San Francisco convention.

Scranton was credited with 97 delegates after his formal announcement of candidacy when Alaska switched to give him 10 of its 12 first ballot votes. Previously, the bulk of Alaska's votes were for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller had 121 committed delegate votes; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, 43, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon 10 and 163 were scattered among various other candidates.

There were 189 votes uncommitted with the convention a month away.

In Virginia, outmaneuvered Scranton supporters attempted to infiltrate an army of pro-Goldwater delegates at the state GOP convention in Richmond—not so much in the hope of winning any firm support for their man but to obtain an uncommitted delegation.

Ten delegates were at stake in Virginia. Of the 20 other Virginia votes at the national convention, 19 were thought to be in the bag for Goldwater with one steadfastly uncommitted.

In Connecticut, Scranton, a native son, was said to have a good chance of picking up 12 of the 16 delegates to be chosen. The other four were for Goldwater.

Calloway Young People Active In State Association Of FHA

Faye Rushing and Paula Norworthy from Murray College High; Brenda Cunningham, Nancy Wilson, and Vicki Crawford from Calloway County High; and Mary Youngerman and Trudy Lilly from Murray High have returned from attending the 19th Annual State Meeting of the Kentucky Association of Future Homemakers of America held at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, June 9 to 11.

All of these girls were selected by their chapter as voting delegates to the convention except Vicki Crawford who attended as a candidate for state office. Accompanying the girls to the meeting were Miss Sue Fairless, Murray College High; Mrs. Bees Kerlek and Miss Lucy Forrest, Calloway County High; and Mrs. Lucy Lilly, Murray High School, as advisers.

Glenda Cart, state president from Meade County Chapter, presided at the opening session Tuesday evening. The theme for the meeting was "Future Homemakers—This Is Your Life." Dr. Stanley Wall, Associate Dean, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, welcomed the group to the campus. The FHA state officers presented "Our FHA Heritage" noting, among other achievements, that Kentucky was the first state to receive a State FHA Association charter. Following this, Miss Mary Bell Vaughn, State FHA Adviser, challenged the 86 FHAs attending the meeting with the topic "Our FHA Heritage and You."

At the Wednesday morning session Dr. Betty Orr, Associate Professor of Education, University of Illinois, spoke to the group on "Concerns of Teen-Agers Today." She challenged young people to think, she said, "Young people who are getting into trouble are those who do not think." Also during this session Mary Youngerman and Trudy Lilly from Murray High helped to present the "Wheel of Concerns" pointing out that the leading concerns of adolescents today include education, role in society, personal growth, their relation to the family, and early marriages.

During the Wednesday afternoon session Dr. Doris Seward, Dean of Women, University of Kentucky, discussed "The Importance of Pathways to the Future." She emphasized that through the pathway of education a teenager gains knowledge from learning to read, wisdom from thinking, understanding from reasoning, and achievement through self-discipline. Vicki Crawford led the group in a relaxer. A tea and open house was held at the School of Home Economics for the group—followed by campus tours.

A highlight of the meeting was the banquet Wednesday evening centered around the 19th FHA Birthday Party. Brenda Cunningham from Calloway County High, who served as a member of the State Scholarship Committee this year, helped present nineteen $250 scholarships, given by the state association through contributions from local chapters throughout the state.

FHA members, Nancy Wilson from Calloway County High was a member of the State FHA Chorus which provided the music for the evening. Miss Neil Owen, Miss Kentucky, entertained the group. Mrs. Lucy Lilly, adviser from Murray High, was honored with a decade of service award.

The Calloway County High and Murray High chapters were presented recognition awards as Honor Roll Chapters for the year.

In the final session a symposium on "How FHA Has Influenced the Future" and Mrs. Margaret Fisher's talk on "The Future Is Now" helped FHAs realize the importance of preparation now for the future. Also Trudy Lilly from Murray High was awarded her State Homeemaker degree.

Mrs. Sarah Tabb Henry, former assistant state adviser, summarized the meeting with "This Is Your Life—Make It A Success."

Murray Has Many Spanish Speaking People, Who Add To The Community By Their Presence

By JO WILLIAMS

In a recent conversation with a friend, she remarked that it seemed odd that one could be in a small town like Murray this week going about his work-a-day routine and then be in New York City next week enjoying big city life and the world fair. This remark stimulated in me the thought that this world really is pretty small. With the progress that has been made in communications and transportation, extensive traveling can now be done so conveniently and so quickly that it is taken for granted.

During the time I was growing up, it was quite unusual to ever meet a person of a different nationality or one from another country. This is no longer true; for instance, we can look about us right here in Murray and see many different nationalities, not only among the students at Murray State College but also citizens of our own town. I am referring particularly to the large number of Spanish speaking people who are residents of Murray.

For the past three years I have studied Spanish at Murray State College and because of this, I have had the privilege of meeting these lovely people, to become acquainted with their customs and to learn more about their native countries. Whenever the college Spanish Club meets, all of the local Spanish speaking people and those from the college attend the meetings. This gives the students who are studying Spanish an opportunity to hear the language spoken as it really is. Whenever the club meets, six Spanish speaking countries are represented, five of them by people who are now residents of Murray. Mrs. Hersley Woodbridge, Spanish teacher at Murray State, said when she first began teaching there, not only were there no Spanish speaking residents in Murray but there also were not any students from any foreign countries.

Juan Rodriguez and Harold Barillas are students at the college and they are from Guatemala. Alfredo Gudy, Julio Zuniga, Isabel Perez, Orlando Garcia and Luis Menendez are from Cuba and they are also students at Murray State. They are all very interesting, likeable young people and in school they are majoring in many varied subjects ranging from mathematics to agriculture.

Among our local Spanish-speaking residents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Olazabal and their son, Victor, Jr., who are from Cuba. Both Mr. and Mrs. Olazabal are employed by the Murray General Hospital. They are quite well known in Murray. Son is a nurse at the hospital and Mr. Olazabal will return to his work there after he recovers from a very serious heart attack which he suffered a few months ago. Their son, Victor, who spoke no English at all when the family moved to Murray about two years ago, is a student at Austin Elementary school and is doing well.

Alma Mahr is from Brazil. Her husband is Lee Mahr, a retired military man. Although Mrs. Mahr speaks Spanish, in her native country of Brazil the language spoken is Portuguese, and she is studying Spanish at Murray State.

Maria Oakley is a vivacious lady from Spain. She has three very handsome sons and her husband is Bill Oakley, who for several years has traveled to many spots around the globe while working as an engineer for Philco.

Alma "Chla" Butterworth is from Puerto Rico. Her husband, Paul Butterworth, is widely known in the county and they have two very good-looking children who are students at Murray High; they are twins, Carol and Paul, Jr.

Also listed among this group is my lovely friend from Venezuela, Anna Rosa Smith. Juan Smith, her husband, is a production superintendent at Blue Ridge Manufacturing in Murray. They have two sons, Mark and Juan Carlos, who can best be described as "nasty guapo"—very handsome! Also residing with the Smiths is Maria Finol, a friend of theirs from Venezuela. Maria is a student at Murray High school. When she enrolled there two years ago, she could not speak any English.

She now speaks English quite well and her teachers say she is a very good student. Maria's mother, Senora Finol, has been here from Venezuela for the past month visiting her daughter and the Smiths. Anna Rosa's mother, Senora Marquez, has been visiting Murray for the past year but at the present, she has returned to her home to visit for a few months with her son. She is without a doubt one of the sweetest ladies I have ever known. All of the friendliness, good personality, and other lovable traits that are so much a part of each one of these Latin people, are at once obvious when one meets Senora Rosa. She speaks no English at all but she has many friends in Murray.

To know these people is to love them and they are so very friendly and appreciative. I sincerely hope everyone will speak to them and make an effort to know them because it is truly wonderful to have these nice people as a part of our community.

Gardner Case Takes New Legal Turn

MAYFIELD, Ky., June 12 — A motion was on file in Graves Circuit Court today to substitute Mrs. Ruby Ryburn as an appellant in the long-standing Ed Gardner will case.

Mrs. Ryburn is a sister of the late multimillionaire, and is the legal guardian of the children of his nephew, Bunk Gardner Jr. The present suit originally was filed by the children's mother, now living in Tennessee.

Circuit Judge Wood Tipton set June 17 as date for a hearing on the motion.

Ed Gardner, a Mayfield industrialist, died five years ago, leaving the bulk of his $10 million estate to the Annie Gardner Foundation, a charitable organization which he had set up.

His brother, the late Bunk Gardner Sr., and nephew, Bunk Gardner Jr., have contested the will.

One Of Siamese Twin Girls Dies

GREENWOOD, Miss., June 12 — One of the Siamese twin girls born to a Negro woman was reported in anti-factory condition today after an operation to separate the two infants.

Officials at the Greenwood Le-flore Hospital said the other twin apparently was stillborn. The babies, joined at the breastbone, were delivered at the Kasar Clinic, a few miles south of here in the Tobala community of Holmes County early Friday morning.

Dr. J. J. Kazar said Mrs. Elinore Moore, 30, and her truck driver husband, Junior Moore, 32, awoke him about 5:30 a. m. bearing at his front door.

The physician said the delivery was completed within two hours. He said the delivery was "quite a shock."

"I was astounded," he said, "I didn't have time to have an x-ray made."

The babies were joined breast-to-breast at birth. Officials declined to give details of the operation or reveal the names of the doctors.

Little Girl Lures Tiger Back To Cage

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 12 — A 500-pound Bengal tiger walked out of its cage in the garage of an animal trainer Friday and an 11-year-old girl and a little old lady coaxed it back in again.

The owner, Mrs. Evelyn Currie, said she'd been hospitalized recently and that the 18-month-old tiger, named "Tony," apparently "just got scared without me."

Mrs. Currie said her niece, Sally White, 11, and her mother, Mrs. Irene Clark, managed to lure Tony back into his cage in a garage—like building where the family keeps several hogs and tigers.

"My mama, bless her sweet heart—she's 87-year-old little lady—and Sally got him back in the cage, but it was really Sally, Tony listens to her," Mrs. Currie said.

"So, words and a nunk of meat did the trick," she added.

B. F. Goodrich Fire On Friday Is Extensive

CALVERT CITY, Ky., June 12 — Officials of B. F. Goodrich Co. today inspected the damages done to the company's new chemical complex near here by a fire Friday night. They hoped to be in operation again within a few weeks.

About 100 firemen, including the departments from Calvert City and Benton, battled the methane gas blaze for three hours before it was brought under control.

Fire Chief Ed Rendleman of Calvert City said the fire started when a gas line ruptured in two places. "Our job was to keep the fire confined until the gas supply could be shut off, and also to cool it down as much as possible, thereby minimizing damage to pipes, tanks and filters in the area," Rendleman explained.

A supervisor at the plant, Bruce Wells of Paducah, was overcome by heat exhaustion. He responded to treatment at a medical clinic here without apparent after-effects.

Dr. J. J. Kazar said Mrs. Elinore Moore, 30, and her truck driver husband, Junior Moore, 32, awoke him about 5:30 a. m. bearing at his front door.

The physician said the delivery was completed within two hours. He said the delivery was "quite a shock."

Yogi And The Yankees Are No Laughing Matter Nats Find

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The American League is on notice today that Yogi Berra and the New York Yankees are no laughing matter this year — whatever the experts, the astrologers or the astrologists may think.

The notice took the form of a 6-1 and 3-0 Friday night sweep of the Chicago White Sox which moved the Yankees to within three games of first place. It hardly seems possible that only a week ago people were counting "em out of the race for reasons varying from lack of pitching to the fact they've never won a pennant in a year ending in four.

Yankee clutch ace Whitey Ford had a hand in both victories — in the first by seconding manager Berra's hunch to start lefty Steve Hamilton and in the second by pitching his eighth straight victory and fifth shutout of the season.

Extends Win Streak
Ford, who doubles as a pitching coach, agreed that Hamilton was an excellent "hunch" pitching choice and the left-hander, making his first start since he was acquired from

Griffith Is Still Welter Weight Champ

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith will shoot for the middleweight crown in September, he announced today after his "Squeaker" upset defense victory over former welter ruler Luis Rodriguez in their electrifying third and decisive title fight.

"I want a shot at Joey Giardello's middleweight crown," the elated Griffith explained, "because I'm tired of training down to the 147-pound limit."

He said he was confident Giardello would grant him the shot at his 160-pound title because "Joey and I would draw an awful lot of money."

Coincidentally, Rodriguez of Cuba and Miami Beach, who lost a split decision Friday night after being penalized one all-important point in the third round, declared:

"I won't try to win back that welterweight title because Griffith and his friends have got things too well organized for me to ever win it again."

He said he would like to campaign for Giardello's championship because "I've fought a lot of middleweights and never lost to one." Griffith, of New York and the Virgin Islands, and Rodriguez fought before 4,804 spectators at the Las Vegas Convention Center in a nationally televised 15-round bout.

It was the third split decision Griffith had won over Rodriguez in four fights, including their non-title 10-rounder in 1960.

The decisive importance of Friday night's one-point penalty against challenger Luis in the third round was reflected in the scoring by the three ring officials — on a five-point-must basis — at the end of the wild, roughhouse battle.

Referee Krause, who penalized Rodriguez for low blows and hitting on the break in the third session, favored Griffith in the voting, 60 points to 57. Judge John Romero agreed with him, 70-68, but Judge David Zerkoff had Rodriguez winning 71-70.

The United Press International favored Rodriguez, 71-70, but a poll of 12 writers at the ringside had Griffith winning 7-5.

Sandy Koufax Is Right On The 1963 Schedule That Carried Him To A 25 Victory Season

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

For all the Los Angeles Dodgers' troubles, Sandy Koufax is right on the 1963 schedule that carried him to a 25-victory season and Cy Young pitcher of the year honors.

A year ago, Sandy chalked up his eighth victory in the Dodgers' 50th game and just Friday night he recorded No. 8 in the Dodgers' 55th game of this season with a 3-0 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals. What's more important, it gave ace Don Drysdale and Koufax back-to-back shutouts wins that moved the Dodgers to within one game of 500.

Koufax retired 13 batters in order before Charlie James singled in the fifth inning and wound up with a four-hitter in which he struck out six men. It was Sandy's third shutout of the year, his fourth straight victory and in his last three games he has allowed a total of eight hits and one run.

Error Scores Two
The Dodgers were held hitless for three innings by Ernie Broglio but Tommy Davis singled home a run in the fourth inning and Julian Javier's error enabled them to score two unearned runs in the seventh. The loss was Broglio's fifth of the year against three wins.

The Milwaukee Braves nipped the San Francisco Giants, 4-3, the New York Mets drubbed the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-3, the Cincinnati Reds shut out the Houston Astros, 5-0, and the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-1, in other National League action.

In the American League, New York swept Chicago, 6-1 and 2-0, Minnesota defeated Washington, 5-3, Cleveland beat Kansas City, 3-0, and Boston whipped Baltimore, 7-3.

Joe Torre singled home Hank Aaron in the eighth inning to give relief pitcher Jack Smith his second win on the first run scored off Gaylord Perry in 23 innings of relief work. Ed Mathews hit his fifth homer for the Braves and Harvey Kuenn hit No. 2 for the Giants.

The Mets whupped the first-place Phillies with a 13-hit attack that included three hits each by Joe Christopher and Jim Hickman and two hits by Charlie Smith. Tracy Stallard yielded Richie Allen's 12th money.

Joe Nuxhall pitched a seven-hitter and struck out seven for his fourth shutout and sixth win for the Reds, who bested Ken (no hit) Johnson in a matchup of the pitchers who faced each other in the historic April 23 game in which Johnson lost a no-hitter. Frank Robinson homered for the Reds.

Joe Amalfitano hit the first grand slam of his career and Bob Buhl pitched a five-hitter for his seventh triumph. Billy Williams went 2-for-4 for the Cubs to raise his average to .389. B.B. Veale dropped his fourth decision against five wins for the Pirates.

Safety Is Watchword When Boating

FRANKFORT — The luck of a sailor is proverbial. But luck isn't very dependable when it comes to handling gasoline and other flammable liquids around boats, says the Kentucky Department of Public Safety.

The Division of Boating reminds "old hands" as well as "new" of these pointers to keep their boats and passengers safe from fire this summer:

1. When refueling, observe a strict "no smoking" rule and extinguish all open flames. Wipe up any spilled fuel immediately. Portable fuel tanks used with outboards should be removed from the boat before filling.
2. Use only approved stoves labeled for marine use. Never use gasoline-fuel stoves aboard ship.
3. Never take portable heaters of any type on board.
4. Use your nose before you turn on the ignition switch to start engine. Ventilate the engine compartment and check for gasoline vapors before you try to start.
5. Because of the fire and explosion hazards from leaking fuel in boats, it's essential that the materials used, the design, the construction and the installation of all parts of the fuel system be of the highest standards.
6. A fire protection "must" for any motorboat over 16' in length is a bucket with lanyard, attached, and smaller motor craft should follow suit.
7. Every motorboat should have at least one (large boat, several) approved fire extinguisher designed for use on flammable liquid fires. Extinguishers or extinguishers should be located near the equipment being protected, or readily accessible outside the compartment, they are intended to serve. Keep extinguishers in good working order at all times.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Christian Science Church is Edward Froderman (above), former Chicago banker.

An investment in Your Future ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

A well of water...

Many important events have taken place at the well. In days long ago it was a meeting place, where all came because of the necessity to obtain life-sustaining water.

Jacob met his beloved Rachel at the well. Moses met the daughters of his future father-in-law at the well in Midian. Much later Jesus Christ met a woman of Samaria at the well and said, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst: but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

The church of God today is a meeting place where many come to obtain this life-giving and life-sustaining water of which Jesus spoke. Won't you come to this meeting place next Sunday?

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mrs. Bailey Gives Program At Frost Circle Meeting

The Maryleona Frost Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met in the council room at the church Tuesday, June 9, at nine-thirty o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Perry Brandon, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer and presided over the business session. Mrs. Jack Bailey gave the devotion and the program for the morning on the topic, "Inter Faith Cooperation." She gave an interesting talk bringing out the works of the United Church Women. At one point she mentioned that the United Church group was a movement rather than an organization. An informal discussion followed Mrs. Bailey's message. Mrs. Bailey closed the meeting by reading a prayer from a worship center on New Delhi.

A sextet composed of Mrs. Ann, Mrs. Robert Ayers, Great Falls, S.C., D. Harvi, Whiteboro, S.C., Mrs. Frank Hawkins, Old Fort, S.C., Mrs. Charles Moon, Rock Hill, S.C., and Mrs. Wallace Sharpe, Pembroke, N.C., sang "The Voice That Breathed Over Eden," John Kobbé, author, a Finnish hymn melody arranged by the bride.

Following the processional the congregation sang "The Lord's Prayer," Scripture was read, and the congregation sang "Praise to God, Immortal Praise." The flutist and organist played "Come, Holy Ghost, Lord God" as the group had silent prayer.

The bride's father gave her in marriage and the bride couple pledged their vows without prompting from the pastor. The rings were given, and the marriage was pronounced.

Mrs. Harrod sang "The Prayer of Saint Francis" and the prayer for blessing was by Rev. M. O. Owens Jr. As the bride couple marched out, the pastor read slowly from Ruth 1:16-17 and Ephesians 5:2. The recessional was played for the leaving of the wedding party and the congregation.

The bride's wedding gown was of white silk organza and peau d'ange lace fashioned with a portrait neckline, tapered sleeves, and a fitted bodice. The skirt was gathered in the back with the floor length extending to a chapel train. Her veil was of imported illusion attached to a crown of lace, seed pearls, and sequins.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, and split carnations topped by a white orchid. Mrs. C. T. Whitesides, all of Rock Hill, S.C., was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss LeMerle Alford, Gastonia, N.C., Miss Linda Ann, Murray, sister of the groom, Mrs. William J. Skeel, Rock Hill, S.C., and Mrs. Ogden Sutton, Pageland, S.C.

The groom's mother chose a gown of pastel blue embroidered organza over taffeta fashioned of scalloped tiers and a scalloped peplum at the waist. Her hair and shoes matched her dress with which she wore elbow length white gloves and a cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Ann, mother of the groom, wore a dress of pink lace over pink taffeta featuring a scalloped hemline. Her matching wrist length gloves and shoes were worn with a crown type hat covered with variegated colored flowers with leaves of tiny pearls. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts for the reception in the church social hall. The bride's table was decorated in the colors of pink centered with the four-tiered wedding cake. The appointments were in silver.

The couple left after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Nassau in the Bahamas Islands. Mrs. Ann is a graduate of Winthrop College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary School of Church Music. She has served as organist and youth director of the East Baptist Church, Gastonia, N.C.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Tennessee where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He has studied at the University of Louisville and is now employed with the Interstate Commerce Commission in Louisville where the couple will make their

Miss Evelyn Elizabeth Hancock Is Married Edward William Arnn Saturday Afternoon

The wedding of Miss Evelyn Elizabeth Hancock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Luke Hancock of Rock Hill, South Carolina, and Edward William Arnn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Arnn of Murray, formerly of Martin, Tenn., was solemnized on Sunday, June 7, at three-thirty o'clock in the afternoon at the Northside Baptist Church, Rock Hill, S.C.

Rev. James R. DeLoach, pastor of the bride, officiated at the wedding. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Wayne Sandifer of Louisville, organist, played five selections. The organist and flutist, Mrs. John Arnn of Paducah, sister-in-law of the groom, played "We Now Implore God, the Holy Ghost" by Dietrich Buxtehude.

A full course dinner including steak, lamb, and chicken was served to the forty persons present. The bride's wedding gown was of white silk organza and peau d'ange lace fashioned with a portrait neckline, tapered sleeves, and a fitted bodice. home. The parents of the groom were hosts for the rehearsal dinner on Saturday evening at eight-thirty o'clock at Luigi's American and Italian Restaurant.

A gorgeous arrangement of white chrysanthemum and white carnations adorned the table. The bouquet was flanked by white candles in crystal holders. Place cards were at each place with a special wedding bell to mark the bride couple's places.

TWOgetherness When Children Share The Same Quarters

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

TWOGETHERNESS can pose problems when it involves two children sharing one bedroom.

You've got to plan a setting that's Even-Steven on all counts. One youngster shouldn't get the lion's share of space. It isn't fair. Equal rights are indicated to stave off civil war.

Crammed Quarters
If the two-in-one quarters are cramped, you're also faced with the problem of conquering space so it can hold absolutely essential furnishings with room left over for play, if possible.

A kid's room should be his castle—or at least his retreat, a place where he can play free of "don't-touch-that" or "not-there" restrictions.

Different Needs
When it's a room for two, and if they're two of different ages, providing play space is really troublesome. The older one may want to spread out with a hobby. The younger one may want room for blocks and puzzles.

If you're resourceful, though, you should be able to keep everyone happy. In this regard, space-saving furniture helps no end.

Since two beds really eat into a room's available space, it's wise to double them up. How?

They Save Space.
With bunk beds, trundle beds or even Murphy beds that fold flat against the wall, freeing valuable space for play during the day.

Low chests may look nifty but nix on them, for high chests offer more storage room and take up the same amount of floor space. Put walls to work, too. Line them with shelves for books, toys or hobby supplies.

TRUNDLE BEDS are a space-saving idea for a room shared by brothers. Decorative flat braid trims fitted spreads and is pasted to the front of the storage drawers, too.

Shelf Desk
A drop-leaf shelf that can rise to serve as a desk or table top is another good idea. It's available when needed and, when not, it's flat against the wall, out of the way of play.

If space isn't limited, and you've a large room to work with, you might divide it, giving each youngster his own "area."

You can divide a room in a number of ways. A folding door smack down the center is a flexible solution. Close it when you want the kids separated for reasons of sleep, study or sickness. Open it when a big play project is afoot and your two-some's engaged in teamwork of one sort or another.

Draperies of sturdy, washable sailcloth, hung from a center ceiling rod, are a pretty way to make one room into two, but they're not as practical as the folding door idea, for they shut off sight but not sound.

If you want to make the division permanent, a partition will do so. Or to divide and add storage space at the same time, arrange several chests back-to-back for the base of the room divider. Top them with louvered panels that reach to the ceiling or with a plywood "wall" that can be lined with shelves. If the kids concerned are old enough to care, let them have a say about the scheme of things. Favor their preference in colors—if it's practical to do so, that is.

Light shades roll quickly, and you know who's in charge of the laundry detail! Save yourself work and keep the scheme bright but not light.

Air-Conditioning Virtues
When it comes to work-saving ideas, air-conditioning's great for children's rooms. It not only helps the moppets sleep comfortably through summer's heat but also keeps their quarters clean by shutting windows on dust and dirt. This cool suggestion is something you might consider, and consider carefully, when you're mulling over young ideas for decorating.

Carrier Air Conditioning

FOLDING DOOR can divide one room into two. Air conditioner's installed stop window, so kids can't fool with it.

THESE BEDS can be arranged, as shown, one atop the other for bunk beds, or used as twin beds.

Dear Abby . . .
Leave It Up To Him!
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a dentist's assistant and I would like to know how often it is NECESSARY for a 36-year old woman to have her teeth cleaned. We have this pushy young woman who would get her teeth cleaned once a week if we'd let her. I heard the dentist tell her that once every four months was about right, but she calls and claims her teeth feel "furry" and she wants them cleaned more often. The doctor has cleaned them twice in three months just to satisfy her, but she still calls wanting another appointment. I think she is trying to make a social contact with the dentist. What do you think?

DENTAL ASSISTANT
DEAR ASSISTANT: Let the dentist decide how often he wants her in his chair. If she's trying to sink her teeth into him, don't gum up the works.

DEAR ABBY: I am tired of hearing widows complain that all the men who ask them out are aggressive to the point of being insulting. I was a widow for 16 years and never had a bit of trouble. I had my first date with a gentleman on February 10th, 1961. We saw each other regularly once a week for almost two years. He called me MRS. and I called him MISTER. On New Year's Eve of 1963 I told him he could call me Margaret, and he asked me to call him Darwin. We shook hands on it. On St. Valentine's Day he asked me if he could kiss me. I said yes. Up until this time he had never laid a hand on me. We were married the following Thanksgiving. So tell those widows to act like ladies and they will be treated as such.

DEAR OHIO: I suggest that you tell anyone who inquires (including the children) that you know nothing about your neighbor's personal life.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN THERAPY": You need not be ashamed. We have all suffered from mental illness in varying degrees and durations. But many of us have managed to recover before it became serious enough to seek psychiatric help. What is a sleep of deep grief, excessive guilt, haunting fear, burning jealousy or lingering depression if not mental illness? I know not one person who has managed to escape all these "sick emotions" but I know many who will deny it.

English Star Is Hit On The Opry

By JIM EVANS
United Press International

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.) — England's Lennie Donegan arrived here recently to record for Hickory Records, made a guest appearance on the "Grand Ole Opry," and was asked to stay longer.

Donegan was booked as guest star at the Opry his first Saturday night in Music City. He entertained the country music lovers with such old standards as "Don't The Chewing Gum Lose Its Flavor on the Bed Post Over Night," "Big Midnight Special" and others.

Donegan's American representative is the Acuff-Rose Publishing

Company. Joe Lucas, of Acuff-Rose, said "England's Lennie Donegan" made about 12 sides while he was in town. Lucas said the recordings covered a wide variety of styles.

"He is a perennial favorite over there England," said Lucas. "People like the Beatles come along and skyrocket to fame and then fade out. But Donegan is the type who maintains a steady popularity through the years."

A new local recording company, Recording Industries Corporation, RIC, has discovered talent on the professional football gridiron.

Roosevelt Greer of the Los Angeles Rams has recorded a rhythm and blues number of RIC and company executives describe his sound as "something like Ray Charles."

RIC itself is rather unusual in its music business. It is the only company which began with the public sale of stock.

Most of the 600 stockholders are local people, but Joe Cadda, New York is president. Vice Presidents are Lester Vanadore and Frank Poole, of Nashville. Hubert Long, well-known local talent agent, is on the executive board.

The new label is not specializing in the rhythm and blues field, but has also signed Clay and Collis Terry to carry the country and western banner.

The teenage idol is Larry Finnegan who recorded "Dear One" in 1962. Finnegan has now finished his college work at Notre Dame and is ready to begin his musical career in earnest.

Soundtracks: Don Gibson, of "Oh Lonesome Me" fame, recently released a new single for RCA Victor. Don wrote and recorded "Oh Such a Stranger." The flip side "Fireball Mail" was written by Floyd Jenkins.

47-8351. Kelly Lester's newest is titled "Rose Grow With Thorns." backed with "Please Don't Cry Anymore." RCA 47-8371. "Followed Closely by My Teardrops" is Hank Locklin's latest effort.

Teasing Can Be Serious To Some Children

By DAVID NYDICK
United Press International

Do other children constantly annoy and tease your child? This can be most disturbing to a child who has not learned how to react and adjust to such situations. A child who handles the situation properly will help to discourage further incidents.

Parents must recognize that their children will probably be teased by other children many times during their lives. Each occurrence is not a catastrophe. More often than not, parents who get upset will upset their children thus creating the background for a serious problem. Teased ears should be played down and used as an opportunity to advise the children.

At what point does this problem of teasing become serious? The effect of teasing is of major concern when children begin to feel rejected and lose confidence in themselves. This usually occurs when children have not been adequately prepared to react when a child annoys them. It may also occur when children have a basic lack of confidence, or have been consistently teased to the point where they begin to wonder about themselves.

This problem can be avoided or corrected by teaching children how to respond to this type of problem. It is more effective to prevent the problem than to let it develop and then try to solve it. How might parents provide the necessary direction for their children?

The home atmosphere has much influence on a child's ability to accept teasing or any other kind of criticism. The child who is secure through love and self respect tends to be better adjusted. If his home includes good natured teasing, he is in a better position to accept this from his peers. The good natured child who has a pleasant personality will have an advantage throughout his life.

There are several facts which a child should understand. When he is criticized or teased by another child, his own reaction is important. If he gets upset, the child who is teasing him will probably continue since the pleasure of teasing is usually aimed at creating anger and annoyance. On the other hand, a child who ignores teasing and laughs it off will in effect be discouraging it since the other child will not gain pleasure.

On many occasions teasing is only meant in a playful manner. A child should learn to distinguish between play and malice. Playful teasing usually occurs between friends who ordinarily respect each other. Malicious teasing usually occurs when jealousy exists. The child who teases and criticizes is probably trying to build himself up by showing that the other child has faults.

Finally it is important for a child to learn how to deal with different situations. The parent who advises the child to avoid such problems is not really helping him. It is better advice to guide the child on how to handle the problem by facing it and learning how to get along with all kinds of people.

Teasing which cannot be alleviated as suggested above should be referred to the school psychologist. Perhaps the child who is constantly teased is creating the problem himself.

Grand Ole Opry stars Hank Snow, Skeeter Davis, Ray Price and Fessin Husky are responsible for unprecedented interest being shown in the Du Quoin State Fair's country and western show set for Aug. 30. First stage show ever scheduled for opening Sunday night during the Fair's 41-year run, the two-hour production will also feature Little Jimmy Dickens, Gordon Terry, Melba Montgomery, the Collins Kids, Stringbean and Bill Anderson. Reserved seats are now available.

Sound May Be Used To Stop Some Insects

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Agriculture Department scientists are investigating the use of sound as a possible means of controlling insects that normally attack stored grain and other farm products.

The idea was developed by Robert Kirkpatrick, an entomologist at a Department laboratory in Savannah, Ga. Kirkpatrick noticed that amplified sound waves seemed to keep flies and mosquitoes away from his backyard patio. He set up laboratory tests to determine the effect of the sound waves on common pests in stored foods.

If the insects could be scared away by sound, this would be a boon to people as well as to farm products. Furthermore, sound would be cheaper than chemical pesticides.

Interested in the fact that sound may upset reproductive patterns and produce a carryover effect upon the second generation.

In the laboratory tests, Kirkpatrick released Indian-meal moths, a common pest of stored foods, in a small chamber in which two radio loudspeakers faced each other. The speakers provided a continuous hum, barely audible to humans.

The moths were bombarded with sound for four days, while they were laying eggs. Kirkpatrick found that only about one-fourth as many moths developed from these eggs as developed from eggs laid by moths not exposed to sound. Among those hatched about half died the same day. Those that did develop took longer to become adults. Normally, these moths live for several weeks laying eggs continually during their life span.

Kirkpatrick said that of the moths that did survive to lay eggs, a smaller percentage of the eggs they laid hatched than would be expected from moths without a family history of treatment with sound.

Kirkpatrick and other Department scientists feel that the use of sound has considerable promise as a non-chemical method for controlling the insects. The scientists are especially

TV CAMEOS: Frank McHugh

The Leprechaun of Cos Cob Goes West

By ED MURIEL

HIS PUCKISH features writhed into a familiar grin. The "leprechaun" of Cos Cob, Conn., then chuckled.

"I don't know where the story started that I'm Bing Crosby's lucky piece," he said. "But if it's true, I could make a fortune renting myself out as a good luck charm. I'd rather think that I got the part because Bing feels I can play it well."

Veteran actor Frank McHugh was talking about his selection to play the role of Willie in the Old Groaner's new weekly video series, "The Bing Crosby Show," which starts shooting June 15 and will be shown next season on the ABC-TV network.

"The role of Willie is a continuing one," went on Frank. "He's an old-time friend of Bing Collins (Crosby), a handyman who interferes in the family affairs—in a nice way. I've been digging through a stack of scripts which arrived the other day and I'm looking forward to leaving for Hollywood shortly."

HIS ACCEPTANCE of the role will mean that McHugh will give up playing the part of Senex in the musical, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," his first Broadway show in 34 years.

"I've been in the musical for more than 30 weeks now, commuting between the theater in New York and my home in Cos Cob. My wife and I will rent a furnished apartment on the west coast. I've made this trip before, you know, and I want to see how things work out. We won't sell our home. Our son and daughter and relatives live here."

The comedian's association with Crosby has been one of long standing. He played with Bing in "Going My Way," one of Crosby's most memorable films.

"I also worked with Bing on radio on 'The Kraft Music Hall,'" said McHugh, "and did a number of Army-Navy relief shows with him during World War II. In addition, we met frequently when we were neighbors in the Polaris Lake area. But don't forget that I tested for the role of Willie. That's how you get a job these competitive

To any role that he accepts McHugh brings a wealth of experience that is matched by few in show business today. One of six children of actors Edward A. and Catherine McHugh, he made his debut as a child with the family stock company in a melodrama, "For Her Children's Sake."

At 17, McHugh left the family troupe and joined a repertory company that played such melodramas as "Ten Nights in a Barroom," "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "East Lynne."

"The little 'rep' companies of those days," said McHugh nostalgically, "were the forerunners of today's video soap operas. Since you were called upon to play all kinds of roles, they were a great training ground."

McHugh made his Broadway debut in 1925 in "The Fall Guy," which starred Ernest Truex. Three years later he married actress Dorothy Spencer, whom he had met while playing in stock. In 1929 he appeared in Ziegfeld's production, "Show Girl," the last Broadway show he was to do until his present one.

"After 'Show Girl,'" related McHugh, "I bought a round trip train ticket and left for Hollywood. I never knew what happened to that return trip ticket to New York."

There was little reason to worry about it, for McHugh appeared in some 130 pictures in the next 20 years. In the 1960s he returned to New York and promptly began to enhance his reputation in the new television medium, appearing in many of the top shows in the next decade.

Judging by past performances, his role as Willie in the forthcoming Crosby series should add luster to a career already famed for scores of humorous characterizations.

200-PLUS I.Q. — Brevard Junior College President Dr. J. Booth Wilson watches as Billy Greene, 12, who may become one of his students, looks through a microscope in Cocoa, Fla. Billy, whose I.Q. exceeds 200, was so bored in the fifth grade that he flunked in nearby Titusville, yet he can square double numbers in his head. So he may enter Brevard and take college courses this summer on an experimental basis.

STORK INTERRUPTS VACATION — Actor Ed Begley and his wife, Helen, whose European vacation was interrupted by the stork in Dublin, Ireland, return to Los Angeles International Airport with Maureen, born May 12. Maureen arrived several weeks prematurely.
